

ARTICLES

4 INTERVIEW WITH BILL GRAHAM

Minister of Foreign Affairs

The Minister reflects on the changing priorities and future challenges of Canada's foreign policy.

6 WHAT CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES STAND FOR... IN THE AGE OF GLOBALIZATION

BY Charles F. Doran

Globalization is the confluence of two factors at the end of the 20th century – the capacity of the modern corporation to source globally regarding production, and then to market globally in terms of sales, and the information revolution. Still, Canada and the United States perceive globalization in somewhat different ways.

11 LE CANADA À LA CROISÉE DES CHEMINS: L'APRÈS-11 SEPTEMBRE COMME PRÉSAGE D'UNE INTÉGRATION MILITAIRE NORD-AMÉRICAINNE

PAR David Grondin

Les événements du 11 septembre 2001 auront des effets majeurs sur la relation canado-américaine, forçant le Canada à se questionner sur les orientations futures de sa politique étrangère et de sécurité, ainsi que sur son rôle sur la scène internationale.

15 UNCLE SAM AND US ONE YEAR LATER: THE GEOPOLITICAL CONSEQUENCES FOR CANADA OF SEPTEMBER 11TH

BY Stephen Clarkson

After 9-11, is the Canadian dilemma with regards to integration with the US one of total exclusion or total inclusion, or can Canadian autonomy survive somewhere in the middle?

19 EDUCATION FOR PEACEBUILDING CITIZENSHIP: A PROPOSAL FOR TEACHING AND LEARNING IN THE CONTEXT OF FRAGILE PEACE

BY Kathy Bickmore

The issues raised by 9-11 can be daunting for children and educators alike. But today, Canadians have an important responsibility to construct an education for peacebuilding citizenship.

24 THE GLOBALIZATION OF TERRORISM: CANADA'S INTELLIGENCE RESPONSE TO THE POST- SEPTEMBER 11 THREAT ENVIRONMENT

BY Martin Rudner

Since the counter-terrorism campaign is unlikely to be of short duration, the longer-run political sustainability of Canada's effort may be predicated on building public confidence and understanding about security and intelligence matters.

31 DEFINING AND DEFENDING A PLACE IN THE WORLD: CANADA'S VITAL INTERESTS IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY Hector Mackenzie

Where does Canada fit in the world? The author provides a look at the fundamental considerations that have influenced Canada's foreign relations in the past, and examines what will influence them in the future.

36 CANADA IN THE POST-911 WORLD: OLD PERCEPTIONS AND NEW REALITIES

BY Denis Stairs

Canada's international political assets, in relative terms at least, have seriously declined. This reality has become starkly evident in the months that have followed the horrors of September 11.

41 CANADA AND THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL IN THE POST-COLD WAR ERA

BY David M. Malone and Patrick Wittmann

The authors assess how Canada has forged a productive, independent and respected foreign policy identity within, and in relationship with, the UN Security Council in the post-Cold War era.

48 CANADA AND ITS WORLD

BY Desmond Morton

In 2001, Canadians told pollsters that Canada's forces were under-sized but they had no desire to spend more on them. What was the need? On September 11, a handful of terrorists provided an answer.

51 L'APRÈS 9/11 : L'OPINION PUBLIQUE AUX ÉTATS-UNIS ET DANS LE RESTE DU MONDE

PAR Jack Jedwab

Le 9-11 a donné lieu à d'importants changements d'opinion publique dans de nombreuses régions du globe puisque plusieurs pays profiteront de cette épisode afin d'évaluer leur relation avec les États-Unis.

54 TESTING "THE CANADIAN DIVERSITY MODEL": HATE, BIAS AND FEAR AFTER SEPTEMBER 11TH

BY John Biles and Humera Ibrahim

In the fall of 2001, Canadians' commitment to tolerance and social inclusion was put to the test. How well did we do?

59 GOING GLOBAL? EXPORTING 'SECURITY' POST-9/11

BY Dean F. Oliver

Will the actions of a few terrorists have an important long-term impact on the evolution of Canada's international security policy?

64 BOOK REVIEW

The New Romans: Candid Canadian Opinions of the U.S.

Reviewed by Gregory Betts

